Re: Sewage Sludge Statement for French Process Zinc Oxide

Zinc oxide is manufactured by French or indirect process. It involves the melting of zinc metal, then boiling it and subsequently oxidizing the vaporized zinc by reacting it with oxygen in the air. At no point during the process does the raw material or the final product come in contact with any sewage sludge (a common fertilizer).

Please contact your commercial representative, customer service, or the Zochem technical department representative(s) below for any further questions.
